Just Like Us Family Enrichment Center

Help Us Develop the Community From Within

Just Like Us is passionate about strengthening our community by investing in its citizens.

In order to reach that goal, we provide support services to two main groups of people:

- Families that are interested in helping their children prepare for kindergarten; and
- Ex-offenders who are re-entering the community and are serious about making positive changes in their lives

For the people we serve, Just Like Us provides the opportunity to acquire the skills to become self-sufficient and effect change in our communities.

Our employment services help participants reach their financial goals, and ultimately become tax-paying citizens.

The Family Resource Network gives people the tools to create more positive, functional relationships with each other, ultimately building a more functional community.

Through small business enterprise efforts, Just Like Us helps create, retain, and grow businesses that improve our community's economic stability.

By providing these services and resources to our participants, Just Like us promotes community safety.

How does community investment work?

Community investment is a rewarding cycle for everyone involved. When families and individuals are supported in their efforts to become self-sufficient, they in turn are more fully able to give back to the community.

Notice anything unusual about this cycle? It doesn't depend on government programs or social services. Instead, the community investment cycle creates an interdependent system, where people feel responsible for the success of their neighbors and their community.
